

Global Indigenous Forum

Steven J. Green School of International and Public Affairs

Global Imperial-Indigenous Encounters 1500 to the Present

Spring 2017 Course Offering

WHO 4264 | Tuesday and Thursday | 2 - 3:15 PM | FIU Modesto A. Maidique Campus | SIPA 103 | Jenna Gibbs

This course examines how indigenous peoples and imperial settlers interacted with each other across the globe from the fifteenth century to the present, encompassing historical case studies from North and South America, South Africa, New Zealand and Australia, and utilizing indigenous sources of oral histories, memoirs, and art, as well as critical readings of imperial sources. The course concludes by examining some of the economic, environmental, judicial and political issues facing contemporary indigenous peoples.

For more information, please contact Professor Jenna Gibbs, Department of History at 305-348-3191 or email: jgibbs@fiu.edu

For more information, see the Global Indigenous Forum web page at: <http://indigenous.fiu.edu/>
Follow us on facebook at: <https://www.facebook.com/GIGFIU>